

Rob Burton, CPA

Rob began his professional career in a Austin, Texas, tax practice where he focused on tax planning and compliance for individuals and businesses. In 1998, he became the Chief Financial Officer of a local law firm and then served as CFO of various medium-sized, privately-held companies for the next 21 years.

Throughout his career, Rob has always maintained a private tax practice in order to keep current with tax laws and best practices in tax planning and tax compliance. This allowed him to gain extensive experience in tax compliance and planning for individuals, businesses, trusts and estates, as well as knowledge of all facets of business strategy and operations. Rob earned his Bachelor of Business Administration from Texas State University, and he is a Certified Public Accountant licensed in Colorado and Texas.

Rob lives in Weld County with his wife, Megan, an accomplished poet and writer. They have two daughters who still think their dad is out of touch, no matter how many years of experience he has under his belt. When not working with clients, you can usually find Rob riding his road bike on the roads of Colorado and other beautiful areas around the country.
